

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

DATE: July 28, 2017

CONTACT: Pamela McLaughlin
315.443.9788
pwmclaug@syr.edu

Small press reading at Bird Library on July 31

Syracuse University Libraries and Colgate University Libraries have teamed up to present this summer's installment of the Small Press Reading Series, featuring Elizeya Quate and John Colasacco. The event will take place on Monday, July 31, from 5-6 p.m. in the Peter Graham Scholarly Commons on the first floor of Bird Library.

Elizeya Quate is the pseudonym of Edmund Zagorin, a writer and performer based in the Bay Area. Raised in Tenleytown, District of Columbia, and educated at the University of Michigan, Quate's first book, "The Face of Our Town" (KERNPUNKT Press, 2016), is a fun series of interconnected stories about interconnectedness.

Colasacco's books include "Antigolf" (Civil Coping Mechanisms, 2015), "The Information Crusher" (Spuyten Duyvil, 2016), "TWO TEENAGERS" (Horse Less Press, 2016) and "The Wagners" (Transfr Books, 2017).

If you need an accommodation in order to fully participate in this event, please contact Patrick Williams at jpwill03@syr.edu by July 27.

###